Long Distance Swim Champs Will Have a Channel Contest

LONDON, Feb. 23—(Associated Press Mail)—The leading long-distance swimmers in the world are to be invited to compete in a common tournament this year at swimming the English channel, it is announced here. An international relay race—open to teams of men and women—may also be organized for the Channel coast.

A great boom in long distance swimming is forecast following the action of Adolph Alexander, president of the Channel Swimming Club, in presenting that institution with a new cup to be competed for by aspirants of any nationality. The trophy is not a challenge affair but becomes the property of the first persons, man or woman, who swims the channel unaided, as did Captain Webb and T. W. Burgess.

The cup is said to rank well among the handsomest of sports trophies. From base to apex it is exactly three feet in height and it is of solid silver throughout. It weighs 375 ounces and stands on a very fine onyx plinth. "Big Bill" Burgess won the first Alexander Channel Swimming Cup when he swam from England to France in 1911. Mr. Alexander's great interest in the sport is accounted for by the fact that Captain Webb was the hero of his boyhood. He considers the Channel swim the greatest athletic feat of which man is capable and the best incentive to long-distance swimming, regarded by him as the only really useful form of the art.

Willie Hoppe Will Seek to Regain 18.2 Balk Title

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 14—(Associated Press Mail)—Willie Hoppe, who will attempt to regain the world's 18.2 balkline championship from Jake Schaefer, Jr., of Chicago, in a 1500 point match in Chicago March 27, 28 and 29, plans to train at St. Louis for at least ten days prior to the contest. This announcement was made by Charles C. Peterson, local billiardist, who accompanies Hoppe on exhibition tours.

Peterson said he would aid in conditioning Hoppe for the championship match and that a physical trainer also would be employed in putting the former champion in shape. Hoppe held the title for sixteen years.

OXFORD, England, Feb. 22—(Associated Press Mail)—A. B. Gravem, a California student, has been elected captain of the Oxford University Lawn Tennis Club for 1922. Mr. Gravem won distinction at the Wimbledon tournament last June in a stubbornly lost match against A. Diemer Koole of Holland. The battle lasted two hours and a half, with a resulting score of 6-4, 4-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

The Oxford team promises to be slightly stronger than last year, the freshman class producing some unusually good players from America and Australia. The Oxford-Cambridge match has been fixed provisionally for June 21 and 22 at Oxford.

Theaters

This being one of the greatest weeks in the history of the good old "Valley Isle," when everyone has left the duties of office, store and even the ladies have thrown aside their household and social duties to join the merry crowd of boosters for the election of Senator Harry A. Baldwin for Delegate tomorrow, so we humbly ask your pardon for the lack of news in the Theatrical Section.

Our coming week's programs, will however, undoubtedly make up for any neglect you have received during election week.

One of the strongest stories ever produced on the silver sheet is booked for next week the Great Drury Lane Drama "The Whip" will open at the Hipp on Wednesday, the story is so well known that it is sure to draw a large house wherever shown, those that know the thrills of horse racing will not wish to miss this production, as the whole story centers around the race course. Another splendid picture starring Geraldine Farrar in "The Woman and the Puppet" is a play that should please, Bessie Love in "The Midlanders" and Harry Sothern in "Blind Wives" are two fine productions that have won great reception both on the mainland and Honolulu.

During the performance on Saturday night the election returns will be thrown on the screen at both the Wailuku Hippodrome and Kahului Theaters, so don't forget on Saturday when you have been to the polls and voted for Harry A. Baldwin that you can enjoy the evening at the show and get the returns right off the wire.

"THE MIDLANDERS"

In appreciation of the boresome sameness with which the majority of motion pictures are presented to audiences, particularly in the matter of scenic backgrounds, the producers of "The Midlanders," Bessie Love's latest picture have strived to present something new both in story and the location in which it is laid.

To that end, the producers selected for Miss Love, the popular novel, "The Midlanders," written by Charles Tenny Jackson. Little is known of this clanish midlander folk in the outside world. For years they have thrived along the bayous of the Mississippi River, content in their self exile. Their quaint life and customs have given author Jackson material for a most unusual story of human interest and wholesome comedy.

That there might be something new in scenic backgrounds for motion pictures, Miss Love with her company under the supervision of Directors Joseph De Grasse and Ida May Park, spent many weeks in the making of "The Midlanders" upon the identical spots described by author Jackson in his writing.

The camera man has taken full advantage of the opportunities offered him and in result "The Midlanders" offers photoplay fans an exceptional treat in artistic photography and scenic beauty.

"BLIND WIVES"

In the superb special production, "Blind Wives," by William Fox and based on Edward Knoblock's internationally famous stage play "My Lady's Dress," four different roles in the various episodes are enacted by Harry Sothern. What a host of memories the name Sothern always recalls to oldtime theatre-goers! And in this young Fox photoplayer we have a worthy scion of a noble histrionic house.

Harry Sothern, who does notably good work in this sumptuous production "Blind Wives," is a nephew of the noted E. H. Sothern—still happily with us—and of the late Sam Sothern. He is a son of Eva Sothern, sister of these well-known artists, and therefore a grandson of the famed Edward A. Sothern, whose portrayal of "Lord Dundreary" was for many years a favorite with the American public.

Harry Sothern was born and educated in England. For a time he was a lieutenant in the British army. He appeared on the speaking stage first with his uncle, E. H. Sothern, in Shakespearean plays, then appeared under such producers as the Shuberts, Klaw & Erlanger, Charles Frohman, William A. Brady and Harrison Grey Fiske. His first appearance in pictures was under William Fox in the recent big success "White New York Sleeps." Young Sothern is an actor of pleasing presence, who has unquestionably inherited the family talent.

"THE WOMAN AND THE PUPPET"

"The Woman and the Puppet," Geraldine Farrar's latest Goldwyn starring vehicle, caused a big sensation in Paris when published there as a novel. Later the book by Pierre Louys was dramatized by Pierre Frondaie and attained such success as a play that the Parisian theater managers prolonged its run for a considerable period. These two eminent authors collaborated in dramatizing the famous play "Aphrodite" which enjoyed such wide popularity in London and Paris. The novel was inspired by Goya's painting in the National Art Gallery of Madrid, showing a man being tossed in a blanket by four women. In the photoplay Geraldine Farrar plays the role of the wilful and beautiful Spanish girl, originally played in the stage version by the world famed French actress Regina Badet. The story is unique in many ways. The plot is laid in Spain and is a story of love and intrigue which reveals a new angle of the age-old conflict between a man and a maid.

The picture, which was directed by Reginald Barker, achieves the same sumptuousness which he infused into Geraldine Farrar's recent photoplays, "The Flame of the Desert" and "The World and Its Woman." Both interiors and exteriors are a triumph of realistic stage settings. There is an exact reproduction of a Spanish plaza; and the homes of the cigarette girls are replicas of the poorer quarters of Seville. Geraldine Farrar's characterization of Concha the cigarette girl is a marvelous interpretation of a beautiful, temperamental girl of the people.

Tacoma Team Rounds Into Playing Form

TACOMA, Wash., March 16—(Associated Press Mail)—Tealey Raymond, manager of the Tacoma "Tigers" of the Western International League, is fast rounding out his team for the race. President William Klepper of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League, also head of the local W. I. L. club, has turned several players over to Raymond as a nucleus for his organization.

Manager Raymond announces that these players include Engle, Emerson, Tate and Genin, outfielders; Scott, Ellison, Plummer, Wahlberg and Turner, pitchers; Burke, Paton and McNab, infielders and Gill, catcher. Engle played with Vancouver in the Pacific International League last season; Emerson is a Portland youngster; Genin played in the Coast League last year, Burke played with Regina last season; Gill is a former Oregon Agricultural College player and Paton played with Victoria in the P. I. L. and with Portland in the Coast League last season.

Manager Raymond still has a number of players who were with Tacoma in the Pacific International League, including Jimmy Chorlton, third baseman; Carl Stevens, catcher; and Johnson, shortstop.

The pitching prospects, who include some experienced league players as well as some youngsters, particularly please Manager Raymond, who formerly headed a Seattle Coast League club and who piloted the Yakima team to the P. I. L. pennant last season.

Australian Swimmer Hangs Up New Mark in Backstroke

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Feb. 7—(Associated Press Mail)—Keith Kirkland, Sydney University swimmer, established a new Australian record here by swimming the 100 yards backstroke in 1:13 and 3-5, or 1 and 1-5 seconds faster than the former record, which had been established by Pua Kealoha, of Hawaii, on February 12, 1921. Kealoha had won the 100 yards backstroke championship of New South Wales on January 23, 1921, very easily in 1:15.

Kirkland's performance came during a special test race conducted by the N. S. W. Amateur Swimming Association to decide who will represent New South Wales at the championships at Brisbane. Kirkland took the lead in the 100 yards at the start and was a length and a half ahead of his nearest competitor at the finish.
